Information about Special Breed Specific Instructions

Exaggerations can lead to serious health problems for the single dog and with consequences for a breed as a whole.

The Swedish Kennel Club has stipulated Special Breed Specific Instructions (BSI) regarding exaggerations in pedigree dogs.

You are invited to judge at the upcoming show a breed(s) which is included in the BSI list.

The Swedish Kennel Club requests all judges invited to judge any of the 46 listed breeds to apply these instructions as a complement to the breed standard.

You are also asked to fill out the evaluation form attached to the Special Breed Specific Instructions and hand it over to the ring steward or show secretary after judging the breed(s). You are especially asked to study the introduction and instructions in the beginning of the BSI-document regarding the written critique and the way to put the instructions into practice.
